thomas wingfold curate or the curate s awakening is the first novel of the series that begins with the story of a compliant and lifeless curate in the church of england and the profound changes that happen in his life and the people around him thomas wingfold is a clergyman who is losing belief in the faith but he goes through many transformations as the story unfolds paul faber surgeon or the lady s confession is the sequel to the curate s awakening and it tells the story of a village doctor and a proven atheist his friend and village curate thomas wingfold is trying to bring him closer to the church but constantly ends up failing in those attempts doctor believes that only victories and tragedies of life can bring one to jesus however after one accident faber saves life of a beautiful woman and they fall in love but her secret past comes in between there and back or the baron s apprenticeship is the third and final novel that completes the series another story about finding faith in god follows a life changing journey of baron richard from skeptical atheist to a true believer the main character sets quite an example of manhood for young people george macdonald 1824 1905 was a scottish author poet and christian minister he was a pioneering figure in the field of fantasy literature and the mentor of fellow writer lewis carroll his writings have been cited as a major literary influence by many notable authors including w h auden c s lewis j r r tolkien walter de la mare e nesbit and madeleine l engle explore themes often glossed over in traditional agile texts navigating the transition from a technical architect to a servant leader handling conflicting priorities and leadership misalignments and managing value delivery in client driven environments where frameworks alone are not enough this book is an honest and relatable look into the day to day realities of leading agile teams filled with hard earned lessons internal conflicts and war stories from the trenches of it service delivery many agile professionals find themselves constrained by process rigidity unable to adapt to real world pressures these topics are more relevant than ever as enterprises demand agility in outcomes not just ceremonies this book offers timely guidance on how to focus on execution while remaining agile in spirit structured as a series of thematic chapters based on real events and personal confessions each section ends with reflection questions and actionable takeaways the narrative style guarantees engagement while the learnings guarantee impact unlike traditional guides that idealize agile or limit themselves to theory confessions of an it scrum master acknowledges the gray areas and equips you to navigate them with confidence its confession style storytelling is not only compelling but also deeply authentic because it s written by someone who s lived it what you will learn the practical gaps between agile theory and enterprise execution how internal conflicts e g architect vs scrum master affect delivery techniques to focus on value delivery in process heavy environments if supportlists who this book is for intermediate agile professionals what remains after a human s biological death capable of conscious communication timeless presence in unlimited distance is milky ways of neurophotons just as the milky way contains billions of stars so too billions of physical neurophotons are released from the human body before and after death and remain up in the air accessible as collective effect of vast numbers of photons with specialized cameras in other words a milky way of neurophotons or billions of them represent what remains permanently alive of a human as massless wave particle duality zero rest mass physics of consciousness as part of cognition after death the process or story of this work began tracing back to february 2017 after working for about four years on a non medical health initiative focused on preventing non communicable diseases ncids the author expanded his efforts to include non traditional activities aimed at reducing early cognitive decline including alzheimer s disease it was at the stage stage 4 he learned about the individuality or separation of each nerve cell neuron along with the gaps or spaces between them in the nervous system which was discovered in 1888 by the spanish pioneer neuroscientist santiago ramón y cajal at the same time the author observed a striking absence of information in the mainstream scientific literature regarding any cognitive activity of neurotransmitters within these spaces after their release from the presynaptic neuron beyond the well known processes such as enzymatic degradation reuptake by the presynaptic or glial neurons and diffusion away from the synapse no cognitive functions were documented in particular the observation that neurotransmitters diffuse away from synapses prompted the author to ask himself different questions what would be the effects of these leftover diffused neurotransmitters interactions in the spaces do the free interactions of these leftover neurotransmitters in the gaps play a role in human cognition this line of inquiry led him to dedicate four more years of constant independent study and research outside a traditional lab to finding an answer the answer he found was this yes neurotransmitters that have diffused away from synapses in the spaces are the major actors in generating human and species cognition after being affected by the photons of electromagnetic radiation both inside the gap synaptic cleft nervous system and outside the body here is why according to the mainstream scientific community high energy electromagnetic em radiation can break molecular bonds and cause molecular dissociation but only if the radiation has sufficient energy to overcome the bond energy holding the atoms together however the author questions this view proposing that a molecule might first absorb low energy em radiation such as infrared light which increases its vibrational or rotational energy then after entering a higher energy environment e g a plasma field or a region exposed to intense ultraviolet radiation it could gain additional energy from other forms of photonic energy reaching the threshold required for bond dissociation outside the body a composite philosophical work with a modern pretext and a very traditional questing spirit it concerns two north african brothers during the period of decolonization marcel a successful pragmatic doctor and emile a writer obsessed with the riddle of himself and his existence emile has disappeared and marcel charged with organizing a drawerful of writings is forced into reluctant intimacy with his brother s mind the chronicles stories and confessions seemingly random at first slowly disclose an order as levels of a single truth which emile has attempted to reach and curiously as marcel s resistance is overcome he begins to recognize the same impulse in himself past and present their existential problem is symbolized by the scorpion in a game of torture when it can t escape a ring of fire it stings itself deliberately or accidentally in frenzy fatally or to be briefly stunned and of the game itself and its spectators what are their motives and what is revealed obviously it takes some nerve to venture into such areas as fully as memmi does risking bombast dullness and not least a frightening degree of self exposure and that risk is not only the acknowledged heart of his meaning but a measure of his success as impressive as the honest intelligence is the fact that such a range and depth of awareness have been martialled into unified and compelling fiction kirkus it begins fine and familiar and hokey and breezy heather son of the episcopal bishop of kansas city arrives at harvard in the late forties reads books sleeps with a girl and is generally unhappy the confessional habit of the older heather looking back on all this is not one that encourages us to take it very seriously ny review of books
