the decolonization of algeria represents a turning point in world history marking the end of france s colonial empire the birth of the algerian republic and the appearance of the third world and pan arabism algeria emerged from colonial domination to negotiate the release of american hostages in iran during the carter administration radical islam would later rise from the ashes of algeria s failed democracy leading to a civil war and the training of algerian terrorists in afghanistan moreover the decolonization of algeria offered an imperfect model of decolonization to other nations like south africa that succeeded in abolishing apartheid while retaining its white settler population algeria and its war of national liberation therefore constitute an inescapable reference for those looking to understand today s war on terror and ever expanding islamophobia in western media circuits consequently it is imperative that students and educators understand the global implications of the algerian war and how to best approach this conflict in school and at home so as to learn from the consequences of misrepresentation at all levels of the memory transmission chain these objectives are all the more important today given the west s misunderstanding and mischaracterization of islam the arab spring the muslim majority world and most importantly the continuing influence of french colonialism especially in the postcolonial era conceived as a case study the algerian war in french language comics postcolonial memory history and subjectivity argues that comics provide an alternative to textbook representations of the algerian war in france because they draw from many of the same source materials yet produce narratives that are significantly different this book demonstrates that although comics rely on conventional vectors of memory transmission like national education the family and mainstream media they can also create new and productive dialogues using these same vectors in ways unavailable to traditional textbooks from this perspective these comics are an effective and alternative way to develop a more inclusive social consciousness schools and national identities in french speaking africa showcases cutting edge research to provide a renewed understanding of the role of schools in producing and reproducing national identities using individual case studies and comparative frameworks it presents diverse empirical and theoretical insights from and about a range of african countries the volume demonstrates in particular the usefulness of the curriculum as a lens through which to analyse the production and negotiation of national identities in different settings chapters discuss the tensions between decolonisation as a moment in time and decolonisation as a lengthy and messy process the interplay between the local national and international priorities of different actors and the nuanced role of historiography and language in nation building at its heart is the need to critically investigate the concept of the nation as a political project how discourses and feelings of belonging are constructed at school and what it means for schools to be simultaneously places of learning tools of socialisation and political battlegrounds by presenting new research on textbooks practitioners and policy in ten different african countries this volume provides insights into the diversity of issues and dynamics surrounding the question of schools and national identities it will be of particular interest to scholars researchers and postgraduate students of comparative and international education sociology history sociolinguistics and african studies
